RE: Relinquishment by potential opposer Yahoo! Inc. of their First 90 Day Extension of Time to Oppose for Good Cause, previously Granted to date: 10/14/2009

Dear TTAB:

Potential opposer Yahoo! Inc. and my client, Trademark Applicant Anthony D. Peccarelli, Serial Number 77526384, have reached an agreement, and Yahoo! Inc. has agreed unconditionally not to oppose my client's trademark application and relinquishes its First 90 Day Request for Extension of Time to Oppose for Good Cause. Please find Exhibit A, letter from Yahoo! Inc., dated August 5, 2009, enclosed herewith, stating same.

Pursuant to Trademark Trial and Appeal Board Manual of Procedure (TBMP) Section 217, Relinquishment of Extension, which states:

"217 Relinquishment of Extension

If a potential opposer whose request for an extension of time to oppose is pending, or whose granted extension has not yet expired, files a letter notifying the Board that it will not oppose, the Board will immediately forward to issue the application that was the subject of the request or extension.

If a potential opposer that has requested or obtained an extension of time to oppose thereafter agrees unconditionally in writing not to oppose, applicant may submit a copy of the agreement to the Board, with an appropriate cover letter bearing proof of service upon potential opposer, and the Board will immediately forward the subject application to issue."

Applicant respectfully requests the TTAB to immediately forward his application to issue; thank you.

Should there be any question whatsoever, please contact me at the above-listed telephone number, email address, or mailing address.

Sincerely,

K.D. Johnson
Attorney for Applicant
